EVERYBODY INVITED

DIANDO STUDIO OPENED TO PUBLIC FOR THRILLING CIRCUS SCENE

The Diando Company is at work on a thrilling picture which is featuring little Baby Marie Osborne as the heroine of a play depicting life in a circus. To make the scenes thoroughly realistic, a while ago the company packed up and made a trip of 2000 miles to Cheyenne, Wyoming, where one of the big circuses wintered, and there staged a part of the play.

There are still some scenes to be filmed and one of these which will be especially exciting will come off next Saturday morning between 9:30 and 10:30 o'clock. It will be a balloon ascension and will picture the attempted descent by parachute of the father and mother of the heroine, of the failure of the parachute to work, and their death in consequence. The tragic part will of course be carried out by dummies, but it will nevertheless be a spectacle that will probably attract a big crowd to the Diando Studio, which is being thrown open to the public on this occasion with a cordial invitation to every one to come and see the act and the actors. It can be easily reached by those who have cars and in order that those who lack automobiles to convey them to the studio on Verdugo road may not be cut off from going, the Company is sending autos to the Pacific Electric Station at Broadway and Brand Saturday morning to transport all visitors who desire to go that way.

Ed Unger, the famous balloonist and parachute jumper, and his balloon have been engaged for the part and he will be appropriately dressed for it. Little Sammy Sunshine has an important role in the play and other film favorites will be seen in interesting situations. Such a scene as this may never be staged again by the Diando people, who can seldom offer the public a chance to watch the fascinating process of picture production. They hope therefore that a big crowd from this city will accept their hospitality and the free ride and come out and enjoy it.

LIBERTY SING TONIGHT

Mrs. Calvin Whiting, prominent in the musical colony of Glendale, has received and been asked to present to the people of Glendale an invitation to them to attend the Liberty Sing of the Community Choir of Hollywood which will be given tonight (Thursday) at Hollywood high school at 8 o'clock as a farewell for the soldier boys who have been encamped there. This chorus for community singing was organized and trained by Hugo Kirchoffer, and it now numbers about 1200 voices. It is well worth hearing and music lovers should not lose this opportunity for a great pleasure. Mrs. L. N. Hagood arranged a party which took in the Community Sing at Hollywood Tuesday evening, the party including Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, Mrs. Dora Gibson, and it is hoped that arrangements can be made for a similar organization in Glendale to be under the direction of Mr. Kirchoffer. The committee has arranged with Mr. Kirchoffer to be in Glendale next Thursday evening, August 29th, at the high school, when it is hoped that every citizen will come out to help in the organization of a big chorus for community singing here.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Miss Ella McDonald of Pasadena entertained at dinner Wednesday evening in celebration of the sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P Goodwin of 142 Garfield avenue (West Tenth street), this city. A pink color scheme was cleverly developed in the decoration of the table, which was centered with an old-fashioned bride's bouquet, corsage bouquets for the ladies being provided as dinner favors. Covers were laid for twelve, the guests being from Pasadena, Los Angeles and Hollywood. The dinner was followed by an evening at the Orpheum. Miss McDonald is a college chum of Mrs. Goodwin.

KILLED ON THE FIRING LINE

Mrs. Ben Berg of 433 Gardena avenue has suffered a bereavement in the death of her brother, Private Gordon Rawley, of Los Angeles, who has been killed in action on the French front. He enlisted about a year ago and was but 21 years of age. His brother, Cass Rawley, is serving the same Company on the firing line. Mrs. Berg and family have been spending the week at Little Bear Lake.

"STARS AND STRIPES"

THE PAPER THAT OUR BOYS ARE READING OVER THERE IN FRANCE AND ENGLAND

The Glendale Evening News is in receipt of a copy of the "Stars and Stripes" of July 12, 1918, published for our boys in blue and our soldiers in khaki, which is a pretty creditable newspaper and one which must bring much joy to the boys. It has a goodly lot of advertising from London and Paris firms and appears to be thriving. Its articles and editorials all have the viewpoint of the fighting man, and are especially entertaining for that reason. Its poetry too has the militant slant and is refreshing in its departure from established poetical precedents.

Here are some samples of its editorials:

Billions for Defense

When, something like a hundred years ago, the Bey of Algiers grew so high handed that he scared all God-fearing people off the Mediterranean, he suggested, in his gentlemanly piratical manner, that the United States of America might as well save itself a whole lot of trouble and make him a cash present. Whereupon one Charles Pinckney, rising in Congress, declared: "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

That slight difficulty with the Bey looks like a joke now, although Stephen Decatur wrote a rather memorable little chapter into American naval history before the laugh was turned on the Bey.

Today, in our fight against a more surpassing pirate, our slogan is exactly the same—with the alteration of a single letter.

Five and a half billions for armament, twelve billions for the Army, eight billions for the next Liberty Loan, twenty-two billions of bonds issued or authorized, nearly fourteen billions spent in our first year of war.

Some day, when the whole itemized account is laid on the Kaiser's desk—if they let him keep a desk—he may find a meager crumb of comfort in reflecting what a lot it cost to lick him. But lick him it will.

Items from the Home Town

"At a pretty home wedding at high noon yesterday, Miss Eleanor Tracy Downes became the bride of Mr. Bozwell Alexander Spencer. Two score friends were present and bade the happy young couple adieu on a two weeks' honeymoon. Mr. Spencer is the son of J. W. Spencer, the well-known furniture dealer, and the bride—"

We needn't finish it. It's just a typical "society" item that we all read from time to time in the home town paper.

Gives us a funny sensation, doesn't it? We realize that some people still are getting married and going on honeymoon trips, and, for all we know, taking baths in hot water. Not that we have any objection to Bozwell getting married. We just—but then we can hardly analyze it.

But when we come across an item like this we don't have any trouble defining our emotion:

"Eighty-four men left yesterday for Camp ——. T his is the largest single group to leave since the declaration of war."

And as the great preponderance of items is of the latter trend, there can't be any mistaking the general impression the home town paper creates.

We know that the old gang is coming—with rifles and cannon and shells and other things to make war with, and that when they all get here—oh, boy!

War Orphans

An article of some length tells about the most recent adoptions of French war orphans, which numbered to that date 356. In elaboration the story goes on:

Twenty-four little French war orphans found godfathers in the A. E. F. this week—and one found some godmothers.

Yep, real godmothers in the A. E. F. The interpreter-translator-telephone girls at G. H. Q.—who can take number 12-86 from you and translate it into douze—quatre-vingt six without holding a convention about it—adopted an orphan under THE STARS AND STRIPES plan—a boy, of course.

So one lucky little French lad, whose father died for Liberty, has a whole squad or two of fairly godmothers who can write and talk to him in his own language and otherwise help him over a rough spot in his young life.

The telephone girls were in early this week with their request for an orphan, and gained the distinction of being the first telephone unit of the A. E. F. to become marraines. They were the first of 23 units and individuals to adopt 25 orphans in the week and run the total of the A. E. F.

NOYON UNTENABLE

REPORTS FROM THE FRONT TODAY INDICATE FRENCH TROOPS ARE AT GATES OF CITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, August 22.—Battlefront reports at ten o'clock this morning showed that the French at some points were only a few hundred yards from Noyon and it is declared that the city is already untenable.

Violent fighting was in progress this morning at many points on a thirty-mile front on both sides of the Oise.

The French have taken 15,000 prisoners in the last 48 hours.

Late reports showed that after Lassigny fell the French progressed to Lamar, taking Mont Cherzy.

Paris newspapers today said the allies had taken 100,000 German prisoners since July 16.

FRENCH ADVANCE CONTINUES

THE GERMANS WERE RETREATING THROUGHOUT LAST NIGHT BETWEEN THE OISE AND THE MATZ

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, August 22.—General Mangin's French army has reached the Ailette river in its advance between the Aisne and the Oise, the French war office announced today.

The Germans were retreating between the Oise and the Matz throughout last night, the French occupying three villages south of the Divette river between Lassigny and Noyon.

East of Noyon the French line is now bordering the Oise between Sempigny and Bretigny.

Further east they took several towns advancing north of St. Paul-aux-Bois to the Ailette river at La Quincy representing a nine-mile advance since last Saturday.

Between the Ailette and the Oise the French are occupying the western border of Pomieres.

FRENCH CROSS THE AILETTE

GERMANS ATTEMPT COUNTER ATTACK BUT FLEE IN CONFUSION WHEN FRENCH STRIKE BACK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, August 22.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon the French crossed the Ailette river on a mile front between Champs and Guny and are pushing toward Coucy-le-Chateau.

One German division attempted to counter attack, but the French struck viciously before the attack was well organized and the Germans fled in confusion.

Noyon this afternoon was outflanked from the east and the Divette river was entirely in French hands.

FORM ENTENTE COUNCILS

ALLIES' REPRESENTATIVES ORGANIZE TO CO-OPERATE IN INTERVENTION IN RUSSIA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 22.—An "Entente Council" has been formed at Archangel, Russia with American Ambassador Francis as president.

A similar council will be formed at Vladivostok.

These councils will co-operate in directing the work of restoring order and giving aid to Russia.

THIRTY-ONE DEAD IN CYCLONE

TORNADO SWEEPING THE TOWN OF TYLER, MINNESOTA, TAKES LARGE TOLL OF LIFE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

FLORENCE, Minn., August 22.—Thirty-one bodies all of which have been identified, have been recovered from the ruins of the town of Tyler, near here, which was swept by a cyclone last night.

It is believed that other bodies will be found.

BRITISH LAUNCH NEW ATTACK

HAIG'S REPORT SAYS OFFENSIVE BETWEEN BRAY AND ALBERT IS "GOING GOOD"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, August 22.—General Haig's report today revealed that at 4:30 this morning the British launched a new attack between the Somme and the Ancre rivers.

The attack between Bray and Albert covered one of the strongest points on the German lines.

At noon reports merely said the "attack is going good." There were no details given.

The British today are fighting under worse conditions than those of yesterday.

Today's attack will practically consolidate the line from Moyenville to Pommieres into a single fifty-mile front.

THE REAL FACTS

T. AND W. TELL THE PLAIN TRUTH ABOUT HARRISON'S ACCIDENT AT BIG BEAR

Editor Glendale Evening News:

M. Park Harrison, sometimes vice-president of the First National Bank of Glendale, a-fishing went, to a lake called Big Bear. We think there is a bear where Park spent his vacation. Any way take a look at his beautiful right lamp. The fish story is like this: Park was strolling along the water's edge waiting for a fish, when whom should he meet but a fair lady dragging her motor boat behind her. It wouldn't motor because she couldn't crank her Studebaker engine. Now Park is nothing if not a gallant gentleman and being well informed as to the mechanism of a Studebaker (Evenrude) motor though it may be, stepped into the breach and spun the engine. The entire performance was so sudden that the engine came back with a blow that almost killed father, incidentally destroying a piece of camouflage which he was wearing to cover the spot usually occupied by a toupe. His eye is much improved and now only looks as if he had gone about 4 rounds.

NOW IN FRANCE

HAROLD PREEMAN IS TRANSFERRED FROM ENGLAND TO REPLACEMENT UNIT

A card just received from Harold Preeman, who enlisted in the Coast Artillery and is now in France, has rejoiced the heart of his mother, Mrs. Richardson D. White. He has just been transferred from England to one of the replacement units in France. He writes:

"Arrived somewhere in France today and am sending you a card to advise you that everything is well with me. It seems I am becoming more interested and enthusiastic every day and am looking forward to he time when my soldiering will commence in earnest. Do not worry about me; I am certainly not worrying about myself, in fact am feeling better and happier now than any time since I joined the army. I find Franec every bit as lovely as the France of romance and tradition. The towns are quaint and appealing, the people exceedingly bright and intelligent looking. I have not as yet learned more than a few simple French phrases, but expect to increase my vocabulary and knowledge of the language from day to day. With a heart full of love to you and family, and trusting you will remember me to all my friends, I am

Your son,
HAROLD PREEMAN."

GOOD WAR WORK

The War Service Society of North Glendale, which organized for Red Cross work last May, has increased in enthusiasm and numbers as the summer has advanced. It now has an enrollment of twenty-two and meets every Thursday afternoon at the Casa Verdugo Home Guard Armory in the Logan Building. Since the last report the ladies have made sixteen surgeon's aprons and six pairs of pajamas, and have accumulated $8.50 in money, making a total since the organization was effected of $25 in cash and about one hundred garments made, a fine showing for a club of this character, especially during summer months.

THE DURHAM BOYS

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Durham, of 1679 West Seventh street, have just heard from their two sons in service. The letter from Ben Durham, who has been in the U. S. Navy for the past four years, announces his arrival in New York and states that he will have to make one more voyage on a transport ship before completing his term of enlistment, but that he will then have a furlough and come home for a visit with his parents. Murray Durham, who was in Company B of the Military Police at Camp Lewis, has arrived over seas and has sent his mother a card to advise her that he reached England safely.

ORMOND BRADLEY AT CAMP MILLS

Mrs. W. C. Bradley, of 1617 Oak street, has just heard from her son Ormond, who left Camp Lewis June 30 for Camp Mills, N. Y., reaching there July 6. He left there for England July 13. Mrs. Bradley received the first word from him on August 19, he simply announcing his safe arrival at a camp somewhere in England. A second card from him was received the following day. This card was postmarked Southampton, England, July 29, so it was three weeks in coming. He also sent a letter from King George of England, a copy of which was given to each of the boys. A fac simile of this letter was in last night's News. Ormond is with the Supply Train.

MERVA SCOTT A SOLDIER

Miss Merva Scott of 1312½ Lomita avenue has been chosen as a member of a dramatic company of ten out of about four hundred girls to campaign for the sale of smileage books. The company will be under strict military discipline and is in the nature of a venture. The engagement may last from a month to 55 weeks, according to its success. The company will be known as the Camp Kearny Comedy Company and their production is called "Let's Go." Miss Scott has both a singing and a dancing part. The company will travel with a chaperone and under military escort and will visit the various camps as well as the larger cities in the interest of the smileage book campaign.

UNITE UPON ONE CANDIDATE

Los Angeles, Cal., August 17, 1918.

Messrs. S. W. Odell, W. C. Mushet, and
J. W. Reagan,

Gentlemen:

We, the undersigned newspaper publishers of the Ninth Congressional District, believing that the most extreme measures must be taken to prevent the present representative in Congress from being returned to that office on account of his unpatriotic obstruction of war measures and his obstinate stand for pacifism, and believing that if the Republican support is divided among four Republican candidates the present incumbent might receive the nomination, have agreed from now until the election to give our undivided and full support to the one Republican candidate who, in our judgment, is most likely to receive the endorsement and support of the voters at large. This candidate is Montaville Flowers, whose qualifications for the office are unquestioned and whose support throughout the whole district is such as to make him the logical man for all Republicans to get behind.

We earnestly suggest that you gentlemen could render no higher service to our country and the Republican party than by withdrawing from any active efforts in your interests and publicly and privately urging your friends to vote for Mr. Flowers.

Respectfully yours,

Long Beach Telegram, F. C. Roberts, Publisher.
Glendale Evening News, A. T. Cowan, Publisher.
South Pasadena Journal, E. A. Wickizer, Publisher.
Alhambra Advocate, B. N. Merriott, Publisher.
Monrovia Daily News, Geo. A. Barry, Publisher.

The editor of the Evening News took an active part in formulating the above letter and signed it with a full knowledge of its contents after carefully investigating as to the integrity and qualifications of Mr. Flowers. A personal interview with leading men of Monrovia gave absolute evidence that Mr. Flowers has been a respected citizen of Monrovia for more than nine years, and he has made a marked success of his own business. He is 100 per cent all right on the temperance question, and emphatically stands for a bone-dry nation and a bone-dry state. The gentleman's wide and favorable acquaintance with educational and political leaders of the nation especially fits him for wielding more than the usual influence in Congress, and his superior ability as a distinguished orator backed by qualifications of keen statesmanship will enable him to render a great service for the Ninth Congressional District.

Above all these qualifications, is Mr. Flowers' patriotic war record. He advocates peace by war,—by a war that will terminate only when the allied troops march into Berlin and capture the Kaiser and all of his supporters, and decree that these autocrats be banished from civilization forever.

TRANSPORTING OUR TROOPS

The world has been astonished at the great number of American soldiers transported to Europe in the last half year. The number now approximates 1,500,000, and the loss of life in transporting them has been almost infinitesimal.

The success with which we have moved our troops from the scattered camps in this country and across 3,000 miles of ocean to the battle front is great evidence of American efficiency. We have not only surprised our enemies; we have surprised our friends and ourselves.

The British controller of shipping, Sir Joseph Maclay, speaks of this movement across the sea as "A transport miracle." We have been inclined to attribute this achievement solely to our Navy and our shipping, but the British controller speaks in high praise of the share the American railroads had in the work. He says:

"If the American railroads had not been operated with success the whole transport movement might have failed, because it was essential to quick transportation that the troops should be ready for the ships."

THE EVENING NEWS ON TEMPERANCE

The editor of the Evening News is now and always has been in favor of anti-saloon legislation in all departments of the government, and the Evening News will not knowingly advocate for election to Congress or the General Assembly any man who is not sensibly in favor of voting against the liquor traffic whenever there is a chance to vote on the question. The readers of the Evening News may feel certain that when this paper advocates the election of any candidate to Congress or the Assembly that the editor has been assured that the candidates are entirely all right on the temperance question. The writer cast his first two votes for president for Prohibition candidates, St. John being one of the candidates. Since then his prohibition activities have been used through the Republican party as outlined by the Anti-Saloon League and the results show for themselves when today we are on the verge of having a dry nation. Do not for a minute think that the Evening News is a back number on the temperance question.

GERMAN VIEW OF CHRISTIANITY

Frederick Wilhelm Nietzche was one of the most noted of modern German philosophers. How much has his philosophy affected the views and character of the Germans of to-day? Is not the answer written in the blood of the women and children, the old men of occupied France and Belgium? Are not the Lusitania victims witnesses to German adoption of Nietzche's faith?

Here is his indictment of Christianity.

"With this I conclude and pronounce my sentence: I condemn Christianity. To me it is the greatest of all imaginable corruptions. The church is the great parasite; with its anemic idea of holiness it drains life of all its strength, its love, its hope. The other world is the motive for the denial of every reality. I call Christianity the one great curse, the one great intrinsic depravity, the one great instinct of revenge, for which no expedient is sufficiently poisonous, secret, underhand, to gain its ends. I call it the one immortal shame and blemish upon the human race."

SUPPORT THE SCHOOLS

In endorsing the Students' Army corps and the "Go to College" campaign, President Wilson writing to Secretary Lane says:

"I am pleased to know that despite the unusual burdens imposed upon our people by the war they have maintained their schools and other agencies of education so nearly at their normal efficienc, That this should be continued throughout the war and that, in so far as the draft law will permit, there should be no falling off in the attendance in elementary schools, high schools or colleges is a matter of the very greatest importance, affecting both our strength in war and our national welfare and efficiency when the war is over. So long as the war continues there will be constant need of very large numbers of men and women of the highest and most thorough training for war service in many lines. After the war there will be urgent need not only for trained leadership in all lines of industrial, commercial, social and civic life, but a very high average of intelligence and preparation on the part of all the people. I would therefore urge that the people continue to give generous support to their schools of all grades and that the schools adjust themselves as wisely as possible to the new conditions to the end that no boy or girl shall have less opportunity for education because of the war and that the nation may be strengthened as it can only be through the right education of its people. I approve most heartily your plans for making through the Bureau of Education a comprehensive campaign for the support of the schools and for the maintenance of attendance upon them, and trust that you may have the co-operation in this work of the American Council of Education."

DISGUSTED WILHEIM

The memoirs of Dr. Arthur Davis, the Kaiser's American dentist, add much to our understanding of the Prussian autocrat.

"All my efforts to show my friendship for America—exchanging professors with your colleges, sending my brother to your country—all, all for nothing!" Wilhelm complained bitterly, when America entered the war.

"What has become of those rich Americans who used to visit me in their yachts at Kiel?" he continued 'a'nd come to my entertainments in Berlin? Do they think I put myself out to entertain them because I loved them? I am disgusted with the whole Anglo-Saxon race."

Alongside this illuminating utterance may be placed another remark made to Dr. Davis shortly after the war began:

"This is America's great opportunity to dominate the western hemisphere and your president must see his chance to take Canada and Mexico."

Poor, crude, crooked-souled kaiser! Always scheming himself, always acting from motives of deliberate self-interest even when appearing magnanimous, and utterly unable to imagine any other statesman or nation as any more honest, friendly and idealistic than himself and his satellites.

We rejoice that such a man as Wilhelm proves himself to be "disgusted with the Anglo-Saxon race." He cannot be half so disgusted with it as we are with him and his satellites.—Santa Ana Register.

ILLINOIS FARM-LABOR NEEDS MET

In spite of the fact that approximately 25,000 experienced farm hands in Illinois have been inducted by the draft and many thousands more have either voluntarily enlisted or gone into competing industries, that State is producing its greatest food crop this year, and the farm-labor needs have been and are being cared for. This is the report made by Samuel Insull, chairman of the Illinois State Council of Defense to the United States Department of Agriculture. In it he expresses his appreciation for the department's co-operation in assisting in the recent farm-labor campaign. The achievement in Illinois, Mr. Insull states, is due to the patriotic spirit of small-town people who responded so generously to the campaign.

When a man buys goods at a store he gets possession of only the articles for which he pays. When a man subscribes for a paper he sometimes thinks he has purchased the whole newspaper plant.

DECENT BOCHE DOG

(By United Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN LORRAINE, Aug. 8.—(By Mail.)—"The boches over there have a dog that ought to be cited by us," say the boys of a certain American regiment.

Every time there is a big German raid, this dog appears running along the German trenches. Every time, he has warned the Americans, who are ready for the boches when they come over. Every raid has been repulsed and has been costly to the Germans.

The only possible explanation is that the dog belongs to a German officer of high rank who inspects the trenches before big raids.

Vessels sailing from New York in June were cut more than 25 per cent in their sugar requisitions, to conform to the Food Administration ration.

FRANCIS TRUTH, THE MASTER MIND, COMES TO GLENDALE

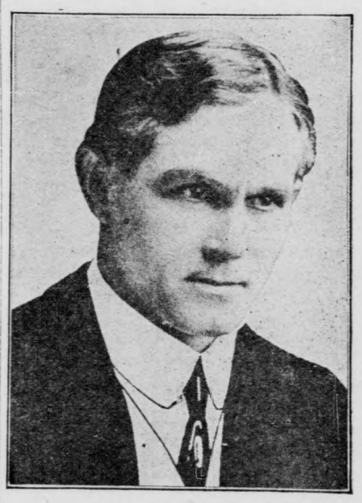
Scientists and investigators of all sorts have for years tried to ascertain how the noted healer was able to cure the cripple on one of Boston's crowded streets without any visible means so that the boy of twelve threw away his crutches and walked away unaided.

Some said it was done through the healer understanding the use of his mind over matter; some said it must be a divine gift, therefore it was divine healing; then there were others who said: the boy was a cripple, that we know; now he walks; that is enough, and the crowds followed the healer to his home in Boston. He went to Denver. They filled the street in front of the house, many staying all night to be ready for the next day, and so it was in San Francisco, Los Angeles, and even the large cities of Europe were no exception.

Mr. Truth comes to Glendale every week to treat privately. He does not have offices for he could not be there, as his time is devoted to the alleviating of suffering, and his time is never his own.

The healer loves to do good and never turns aways from any whom he is convinced he can help sufficiently for the effort.

Mr. Truth's co-workers are everywhere. Those interested to meet Mr. Truth personally may phone Sunset Wilshire 5586 asking for the secretary, who will arrange for a meeting in the near future. Mr. Truth will see any one interested without charge and does not accept gifts for healing unless the case is a curable one through the hidden powers of concentration.



MONTAVILLE FLOWERS

The attempt of Mr. Flowers' opponents to confuse voters by making false accusations against him has had the effect of rallying all Republican forces behind this staunch American.

The strength of Mr. Flowers lies in the fact that he is strong in every nook of the great District. He is not merely strong in spots, he is strong everywhere. He is not merely strong with a few classes but with all classes.

The petty insinuation that he worked against the Republican party in 1912 is malicious and contemptible. Mr. Flowers has been a Republican all his life. He donated his services to the Republican National Committee for Taft and Hughes. "But how about 1912?" he is asked. Mr. Flowers has no apology to make. In 1912 he was selected as head of the speakers' bureau and campaigned the country in the interest of that great American patriot and Republican leader, Theodore Roosevelt. "If it is a crime to have worked for Col. Roosevelt," said Mr. Flowers in a recent address, "let my enemies make the most of it." But his enemies carefully refrain from telling the facts. They attempt to cast discredit on him by asking in an accusing manner, "What were you doing in 1912?"

Probably other equally malicious untruths will be sprung too late for Mr. Flowers to make denial. You may be sure they are untrue.

These un-American tactics on the part of candidates condemn them as unfit for service in Washington where great questions of moral justice must be dealt with. We are fighting Germany on moral issues. Do you want a clean, powerful, honorable man in Congress to represent you, or do you want to entrust the national destiny to small political tricksters?

The answer will be given on election day. The Ninth District is aroused. Montaville Flowers will be nominated by an overwhelming vote.

MONTAVILLE FLOWERS FOR CONGRESS CLUB.

Travelers in a hurry to locate the schedules of the trains they are about to take will hereafter not have to search through the familiar thirty-two page folders. In place of a voluminous time-table such as was used under private control, there will be issued to the public monthly a four-page condensed folder showing the principal through trains and six four-page district folders, separately covering various territories. This change will not only furnish travelers with the information they desire in concise and convenient form, but will also effect an economy in printing and paper.

Out of the last harvest the American people, by abstinence, saved 140,000,000 bushels of wheat to feed the hungry Allied nations; and these same people are going to stay right on the sugar job and see it through.

SUGAR IS SCARCE

The Los Angeles dailies have made life a burden for our grocers by stating that householders could get all the sugar they wanted up to 25 pounds at a time for canning. The grocers would be mighty glad to sell every applicant 25 pounds, for they know much fruit is rotting, but they can not get the sugar. Most of them can sell only 5 pounds to a customer, but some of them as much as 10 pounds. One small grocer who sold more than 500 pounds for canning in July, was not allowed a single pound to replace it though promised all of it. We must not blame the food administration, however, as they are doing their very best and would gladly allow all the canning sugar asked for but they can not get it. But it is to be hoped they will in future muzzle the dailies that promise the housewives all the canning sugar they may demand.

A. GROCER.

MOVE TO MONTROSE

Mrs. Mary J. Brooks and her sister, Miss Ainsworth, who have been residing at 103 North Louise street, are moving to Montrose next Monday. Miss Ainsworth, who has been assistant chairman of the Knitting Department of the Glendale Red Cross, and inspector of completed garments, has resigned that work. She will be greatly missed in the Chapter, but the many friends of Mrs. Brooks and Miss Ainsworth hope they will not resign all their connections in Glendale. James Thompson and family, of Casa Verdugo, will occupy the house they are vacating.

The present household sugar ration—with little chance of increase—is two pounds a month in America, two pounds in England, one and one-half pounds in France, and one pound in Italy.

SOCIAL WAR WORK CLUB

A new club of girls has been formed which is doing what perhaps could be caalled social war work. It has not reached the stage of electing officers and as yet is without a name, but it has a membership of twelve or thirteen and has held four meetings, the last one Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Gregg at 206 South Central avenue. These girls invite and entertain in an informal way twelve to fifteen soldiers or sailors. Sometimes they know the boys, sometimes they do not. They send the invitation to the camp and young men are selected to accept it. At the meeting this week boys in blue from the Naval Reserve at San Pedro were entertained who were invited by Tom Phillips of Glendale, who is in the Navy and who was glad to come and bring a bunch of his friends. These little parties are also benefits for the Red Cross, as each girl brings a quarter, which is turned in to the local chapter. The idea originated with Grace Beach and the club includes to date the following list of young ladies: Lorraine and Barbara Mitchell, Grace and Alice Gray Beach, Ardis Heisler, Lillian Leppelman, Dorothy Hobbs, Carol Willisford, Vera and Harriet Bayard, Rebecca Gregg and Myrtle Pulliam.

FALL MILLINERY

Mrs. Anna L. Smith has returned from a short vacation trip and her millinery store is open for the fall trade. She will be glad to show her customers her nice line of up-to-date fall hats.

Almost 70 per cent of all the sugar consumed in this country is used in the households. So it is up to the women to make the sugar go around.

OUR FIELD ARMY

The first American "field army" of which the organization has been announced is not an "army" in the specific sense given to the word either by Germans or allies. This arises from the unusual strength of the American division as compared with other armies. As against the 12,000 men of a German division, or the somewhat larger number in a French or British division, the American division is more than 27,000 men strong. The composition of our various army corps announced some time ago shows six divisions to a corps, or about 160,000 men. This is five times the size of the French or British corps. If now our first field army is to comprise five corps, it would mean a force of 800,000 men as compared with the average "army" on the western front of two or three corps of two or three divisions each, or from 60,000 to 140,000 men. In fact, our first "field army" would be numerically two or three times as strong as the "army groups" of Foch or Ludendorf. Our first "field army" really means that, of the 1,400,000 men we have shipped across, more than half are ready for battle service and are in a position to take up longer stretches of front than we have hitherto occupied. But it is not likely that for some time will the American forces take charge of a long and continuous front like that held by the British or the French.

HELPING MR. HOOVER

In the National Food administration more than four thousand men and women have given their services to the government to help win the war. More than a hundred business men are in Washington helping Mr. Hoover without salary and paying their own expenses besides. Every patriotic family is helping Herbert Hoover in the home.

In March of this year we were able to ship to our allies 380 million pounds of pork as a result of "porkless days" during the previous two months. This was twice as much as we ever exported in any one month for the previous seven years. Yet nobody really missed his pound of pork that went abroad.

Mr. Hoover, the Food Administrator works every day from 8:30 in a small office in Washington, without pay and is glad to do it. Helping to conserve food under such an example of self sacrifice should be a real joy. To good Americans it is. When he made an enemy of the American mother the Kaiser lost the war.

In many parts of the south white bread, so far from being a necessity is considered a treat. In normal times the southern worker uses less than two pounds of wheat a week, while northern workers average more than eight pounds a week. "Save till it hurts," is a good rule on wheat this year.—People's Home Journal.

STILL TIME IN SOUTH

Practically all the common garden vegetables can be grown satisfactorily in the South in the late-summer and fall, and it is an important item of national defense that every foot of available ground be made to work every day of the growing season. These points are stressed by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture in an appeal to Southern gardeners, in cities, suburbs, or on the farm, to take full advantage of the climatic conditions in the South and increase vegetable crops to the maximum.

Don't neglect home gardens during the latter portion of the season, the specialists advise, and remember that it is not yet too late even to start a garden on land that has been idle this season.

It is perhaps even more important to have a good fall garden in the South than it is to have a good spring garden, because in the spring there is a supply of commercially grown vegetables, while in the fall and winter the supply from this source is limited. A large portion of the vegetables consumed in the South during the winter must be obtained from the North unless home gardens are worked to the full extent. Productive home gardens not only help to feed the Nation, but release staple foods for shipment abroad and decrease the strain on railroad traffic.

Anyone who is in doubt as to what and when to plant in order to have a good full garden is advised to consult experienced neighbors or get in touch with his county agricultural agent, the State colleges of agriculture or the United States Department of Agriculture.

In the fall, garden space should be devoted largely to crops that can be kept for winter use, provided they mature late in the season. These include such crops as late cabbage, turnips, potatoes, beets, and carrots. The vegetables planted in the fall garden mature just before winter when the temperature is low and conditions are well suited for storing. In winter it is especially difficult to secure a varied diet, and home-stored vegetables fill this need without imposing any burden on transportation systems. A good farm garden in practically all parts of the South can be made to produce a large part of the food needed for the family. One that is well planned and properly cared for may easily be made worth from $50 to $100 to the average family.

If the garden has been allowed to go to weeds now is the time to clean them out and to plan and prepare for the fall crops. If the space is available it will still pay to plant a garden even though no early garden has been grown. If the spring and summer garden did not furnish sufficient vegetables for canning and drying to meet family needs during the winter, plan to produce them in the fall garden.

LIBERTY LOAN INTEREST RATE

Secretary McAdoo has definitely announced that the Fourth Liberty Loan bonds will bear 4¼ per cent interest.

The Secretary has been insistent that the Government interest rate should be stabilized at 4¼ per cent. He points out that a raise in the rate of interest of only one-fourth of 1 per cent on $10,000,000,000 of Government bonds would mean an annual increase of $25,000,000 in interest charges, and that this money would have to be raised by increased taxation and paid by the people of the country. It would not be paid by one class only, because there are consumption as well as other kinds of taxes, and the consumption taxes reach every class of people.

"As an intelligent people," said Secretary McAdoo during the Third Liberty Loan campaign, "we should now make a stand for the financing of our Government during the period of this war at a stabilized rate of interest, say at 4¼ per cent per annum, so that all business and all investments may be adjusted to that basis, and so that we ourselves may protect ourselves against successively increased rates of interest on Government loans."

Neither our patriotism nor our support of the Liberty Loans are measured in fractions of per cent.

Wouldn't Be Insulted

The spirit of the American flyer is exhibited in this squib:

An American flyer on monitor duty was detailed to drive a replacement machine to a hangar near the front. It was his first trip toward the lines.

As he neared his destination he observed a Boche plane on the skyline. He made for it. His machine was innocent of machine guns and, in the way of weapons, he didn't have even a cap pistol, but that didn't seem to bother him.

The Boche turned tail and started Berlin-ward. The American followed for a few kilometers, lost sight of the German and returned.

"What," asked a captain who had observed the incident, "were you going to do if you had caught up with him?"

"I don't know, sir," replied the flyer, "but I certainly wasn't going to let him sit up there and insult me."

Evading Censorship

Then come some real news items:

Two Y. M. C. A. men, Henry P. Coor and Charles W. Dietrich, have been found guilty in court martial, sentenced to confinement and ordered returned to the United States for attempting to evade the censorship regulations.

One of the men, when arrested at a base port, was found to have in his custody packages, letters and photographs for delivery to friends of members of the A. E. F. in the United States.

The incident has been made public, with the approval of both Army and Y. M. C. A. authorities, "for disciplinary purposes in the effort to make it understood that the only object of censorship is to protect the lives of fighting troops."

New Air Service Hatcord

A green and black hat cord has been authorized for enlisted men of the Air Service. It replaces the orange and white cord of the Signal Corps heretofore worn by men of the Air Service.

Army Verse

To show what the army poets can do, here are some specimens taken from the "Stars and Stripes":

Rags

One, two, three, four—one, two, three, four,
They come marching on to the parade ground
For their daily setting up exercises.
Who is near the head of the column,
Wagging his tail and with a confident look?
It is Rags.

As they run and squat and jump about,
He moves from one position to another,
Seeming always to take an interest in the way things go.
As they march in line formation,
With the officer walking cocky in front,
Rags is right beside of him,
Making sure the C. O. doesn't fall down on his job.

At noon, when the band marches on to the ground
To play its daily concert,
Rags is near the front escorting it in,
And as the bandsmen take their place on the stand,
He takes his position, also, alongside,
And enjoys the music even more than those about.

When the daily work is over,
And the boys go to the Y. M. C. A.
For entertainment, refreshment, talking, reading, writing,
Invariably Rags is there,
Going from one to another.
If he gets a cracker or a pat, it's all the same,
He is still your friend.

Then, on Memorial Day at the cemetery,
When the men stood with grim faces,
Though he could not go through the gate (he knew)
To stand beside the graves,
He was right next the fence, looking through,
And withal, he stood as solemn as any.

Mother O' Mine

Dear mother o' mine, do you mind the day
In a railroad station, with a crowd that was gay,
When you said good-bye, and blessed with a kiss
Your grown up lad; never dreaming he'd miss
That kiss and caress in the year yet to run,
As never before, your own loving son?
And dad's tear-dimmed eyes, as we waited the train;
I knew what he thought, 'cause mine were the same.

It didn't take long, that parting so brief,
Your face wreathed in smiles, what traces of grief
Tormented your heart were buried right there.
But that parting so brief makes me wish to compare
That kiss and caress to a ship-building crew,
When the liner is finished, save a rivet or two,
In a spot where they're needed, a moment of time
Completes a great task and a vessel sublime.
It's the ship of my life, it was launched not in vain;
It needed the rivet, the touch of a plane,
To smooth down the rough spots or clamp down a plate
On the hull that might leak when the time was too late.
For the ship must be worthy to plow through the sea,
And to ride o'er the foam where the billows toss free.
Come storms or come danger or blue skies and sun
There's no turning back till the journey is done.

I've put on the O. D's; there is no retreat,
And there's no turning back till the task is complete.
Come flame or come bullets, come gas or come shell,
They may break up the body, those products of hell;
But your kiss and caress, like a seal, guarantees
That your boy will be true while he fights overseas;
For my soul has been pledged to, wherever I trod,
The love of my mother, my country, and God.

The Red, White—and Black

Red is the flag of Germany,
Red for the blood she spilled;
there's times when there's been
White for the shame she willed;
Black is the flag of Germany,
Black for the graves she filled!

M. G.

The White Wolves

You, too, loved, on days like these,
Under the pines to lie at ease,
And watch the flocks of clouds go by,
Where now the white planes flit and fly.

And you were the shepherd of those sheep,
Grazing along that azure steep,
On many a foolish, idle day,
Where now the white wolves seek their prey.

R. R. KIRK, S. S. U. 648.

Hoggin' It

Well, I've eaten food sublime, and I've eaten food that's rotten,
From Alaska's coldest corner to where the landscape's cotton;
At time there has been plenty, then there's times when there's been none,
And I've kept me upper stiffest, for complainin' I'm not one.
But it's now that I'm protestin'—oh, I've suffered silence long—
It' fancy food I'm cravin', for me system's goin' wrong.

Oh, it's bacon, bacon, bacon,
Till your belly's fairly achin'
For some biscuits or some hot cakes that in your mouth would melt;
There's no German dog could dare me,
No fear of death would scare me,
If I only had some chicken a la King beneath me belt.

Now I read where Mr. Hoover tells the folks to lay off hoggin',
We'll be needin' lots of grub to put the Fritz on the toboggan;
And the way that they've responded makes you feel so awful proud
That you'd like to meet old Bill to take his measure for a shroud.
Lord, it's plenty that we're gettin', but I'd be dancin' jigs
If they'd pass an order home to stop a-killin' off the pigs.

For it's bacon, bacon, bacon,
Till your very soul is shakin'—
If I could pick me eatin', it's a different song I'd sing;
I'd not miss a raidin' party,
For patrol I'd be quite hearty,
Oh, I'd swap me chance for Heaven for some chicken a la King.

LA CANADA

La Canada Sanitary Dairy, owned by the Durands, is adding another improvement to their equipment, in fact it is added. An immense silo with a capacity of 40 tons has been built, which has a diameter of 12 feet and a height of 12 feet. The silo is being rapidly filled with corn stalks, which make a good ensilage. This is hoped to keep down the cost of milk production and avoid an increase of price the customer may have to pay.

Thursday a continuous rain fell for many hours. Forty years ago Los Angeles had a similar rain which was a part of a widespread desert storm.

The Dutours have a nephew from San Jose visiting them.

King George of England, after a recent visit to the front, extolled the appearance of the A. E. F. and was loud in expressions of admiration of their eagerness to deal with the enemy.

Dispatches dated August 14 tell how the Americans swam the rushing waters of the Vesle river, charged through the gas-flooded valley under severe machine gun fire, soaking wet from head to foot. Our men did this. The above is named as "one of the most brilliant deeds of the two weeks of the Soissons-Rheims offensive."

Mr. Friday's daughter, who is precariously ill in a Boyle Heights hospital, is about to be removed to another, presumably the Pacific.

The Rev. Lane, who is a property owner on La Canada boulevard, who resides in Pasadena, has been doing service for his country. Mr. Lane is a Civil War veteran, but neither age nor its attendant evils deterred him from gallantly doing his best. He planted and cared for a garden of such size and excellence that he has realized over $100 from sales of his products. Patriotic (?) citizens of the U. S. rewarded him for his labors by attacking his La Canada ranch and pilfering his entire crop of apricots, coming there in machines provided with packing boxes. One set of looters were caught in the act but refused to make restitution and the neighbor was so righteously wroth that he stamped on the fruit in the boxes and rendered it useless.

Mr. Williams succeeded in picking most of the peaches for Mr. Lane. Many visitors to our valley think fruit is grown for their benefit, with no return to the owners for their care or investment.

Mrs. A. G. Williams is looking for a visit from her sister, Mrs. Welch of Three Rivers.

The Century for July has a reproduction of a portrait of President Wilson by Seymour Thomas, which hangs in the White House. Old subscribers of the Woman's Home Companion will find on the cover of the November, 1912, number a picture which was made directly from the original sketch in color of this same portrait, made as a preliminary by Mr. Thomas. The Companion says that, as is often the case, the first sketch is better than the finished portrait.

TUJUNGA

Glorietta Heights school will open on Monday, September 9th, with Mrs. Ora Strain as principal and Miss Bessie Samuels as primary teacher.

At the Red Cross meeting of August 16th it was decided as a mark of love and esteem for Miss Stella Wieman, who is at present in New York City awaiting her call to France, to purchase a traveling trunk for her use. A collection was taken for this purpose.

Miss Lucy Lee, who has been in Oregon for the past six months, writes that she expects to return to Tujunga in about two weeks.

The Red Cross held their usual sewing bee on Friday with twenty-eight ladies in attendance and a large consignment of work was finished. It was voted to have two sewing days a week, Tuesday and Friday, until the first of October, in order to help the Pasadena Chapter out on their quota of 70,000 garments. Seven new Singer machines have been installed so there is no excuse for anyone not coming to sew. We make an extra plea for sewers, for there are many who have not helped at all and we would be glad of their services, either or both days of the week, whether you are a member or not. The need is great for these hospital garments, and even if one of your dear ones is not there, some one else's boy is fighting to make the country safe for you. Show you can be brave enough to sew for them, so long as they are brave enough to fight for you. Let every chair be filled the next two months. Bring your lunch and work for the boys. With apologies to Halleck we would say:

"Work till the last armed foe expires,
Work for your altars and your fires,
God and your native land."

Many residents are taking advantage of the figs and grapes on abandoned land that are now in their prime to make jelly and grape juice, as well as to dry figs. After drying the figs place them in a box in layers, sprinkling a very little powdered sugar between the layers. When the box is full, put a board on top and weight it down. About Christmas time open and you have a fine, moist fig, delicious to the taste. Put a layer of wrapping paper in the bottom and on top to absorb any juice that may ooze out.

If you find you can not get sugar and do not like Karo in your canned goods, better dry them and pack the same as the figs. Much is said about canning without any sugar, but fruit put up without sugar is likely to get soft and mushy before spring. Better use one half the quantity of sugar to hold them firm.

Mr. Barnett of San Pedro was in Tujunga for a few days' visit with his family.

Mrs. Hartley brought in some very large Wixon plums grown on their place this summer. Many fine varieties of plums, peaches, nectarines and prunes have found their way to us from our friends, showing the wonderful fruit-growing conditions of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Niemeyer and Mr. and Mrs. Dean were in Los Angeles Monday, one party to celebrate the anniversary of their wedding day, the other a birthday. They enjoyed themselves in their outing and returned thoroughly tired. Mrs. Fairfield looked after the store in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Dean.

Dr. White and daughter Rebecca were up from Long Beach on Sunday.

Think what the spectacle of cheerful giving means to the enemy.

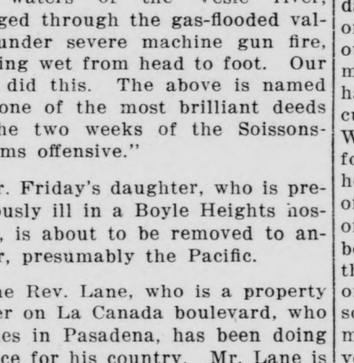
Three Years Ago Today We Took Over This Store



Our business has steadily grown. We want to thank the good people of Glendale for their liberal patronage.

Just a word more about coffee.

Dont be too liberal to the pot if you use our coffee. For it is far richer and stronger than the usual and takes less to the cup than any other. Doesn't cost any more than any other first class coffee, but by using it you can save a little on every cup you make.
